E-commerce and the law is an interactive technical note that analyses Spain's law on the information society and e-commerce, and other relevant features of the regulations governing the Internet and related areas.

The interactive technical note is divided into the following chapters:

- Introduction
- Theory
- Practical case study
- Laws
The technical note analyses all issues arising in connection with e-commerce and the legal aspects of defending the interests associated with e-commerce using a case study of a company that sells products on the Internet. The unit also analyses the main trends that will shape the field in the coming years.
